CALDWELL CASE DRAWS TO CLOSE

$10,000 Damage Suit, Charging the Alienation of Thomas Morrow's Wife's Affections, is Surprise.

WEALTHY FARMER, DEFENDANT

Three Witnesses in Case Which Was Expected to Consume 2 Days—Caldwell, Good Witness.

The ten thousand dollar damage suit of Thomas Morrow of Indianapolis against Luther Caldwell, living four miles west of the city, charging the alienation of the plaintiff's wife's affections, was drawn to a close in the circuit court this afternoon. The case will not go to the jury until tomorrow morning when the instructions will be read by the court.

The attorneys began the argument this afternoon at three-fifteen o'clock and each side was restricted to three-quarters of an hour. It was expected that the case would take up at least two days in court, but it was a big surprise to both attorneys and the court. It was not started in court this morning until about ten o'clock. There were only three witnesses in the hearing, the plaintiff, defendant and A. P. Walker.

Luther Caldwell, the defendant, who was on the stand from one-fifteen o'clock until three-fifteen, made an excellent witness for himself. He positively refused to be confused in cross examination and remained by the same story which he told in cross examination. He rehearsed practically the same story which his attorneys asserted would be their defense in their opening statement this morning.

Mr. Caldwell stated that he never made but two trips to Indianapolis after the time which the plaintiff alleges that he was on such terms with Mrs. Morrow that he broke up the Morrow home. The first time he was in Indianapolis, he said, he ate at the Taggart lunch room in Massachusetts avenue, Indianapolis, and saw a woman whom he believed to be Mrs. Morrow working there, and learned that it was the same Mrs. Morrow who was employed at A. P. Walker's country home as a domestic. He asked to see her, according to his testimony, intending to employ her if possible, as a housekeeper at his home west of the city. She told him, the witness said, that she would meet him in University park which is about a block from the lunch room, as soon as she finished work. Mr. Caldwell and Mrs. Morrow met there and the husband, who had been following her, intervened and the scene took place described by Morrow while on the stand this morning.

The defendant testified that Mrs. Morrow had been recommended to him as an excellent housekeeper by Russel Berringer and other people who had known her while she worked at the Walker home. In cross examination he told exactly the same story and had a ready answer for every question which the attorneys for the plaintiff put at him. Mr. Caldwell admitted that he did not pay very much attention to the case because as he said on the stand, "I didn't think you fellows would show up."

A. P. Walker was the second and last witness for the defendant. He testified that Mrs. Morrow had been employed at his home as a domestic from November, 1907, until May of 1908. He said that Mr. Caldwell had never been on his place when he was at home during the time that Mrs. Morrow had been employed there.

The plaintiff was the first witness on the stand and his testimony was completed by the time intermission was taken for the noon hour. Mr. Caldwell was called to the stand.

NEW YORKERS WILL EAT FIRST PAWPAW

Crate of "Hoosier Bananas" Are Expressed to Tom J. Geraghty to Carry Out Joke he Perpetrated.

NEVER SAW 'EM IN NEW YORK

New Yorkers are to have their first treat to the only original "Hoosier bananas" Wednesday. Friends of Tom J. Geraghty shipped a crate of pawpaws to him today and addressed them to the editorial rooms of the New York Herald, where he is employed. Mr. Geraghty wrote a feature story in the Herald several months ago in which he represented Alexander Williams, "mayor of Jersey City" as the grower of pawpaws and owner of a large farm in this county. After that Mr. Williams received many letters from New York commission firms in which tempting offers were made for the delicious fruit. Members of the Herald staff have been loathe to believe the story and to make it sound like a real one the original pawpaws were shipped to him by express so that he will be sure to get them. Printed tags bearing the inscription, "From Alex Williams, the Hoosier Pawpaw King, Rushville, Ind.," were tacked all over the crate. New Yorkers never knew that such a thing as a pawpaw grew. "Directions for taking" were sent by mail.

STOLEN BICYCLE LEADS TO ARREST

James Hoskins, Colored, 12 Years Old
Will Appear Before Judge Blair to Answer Charge.

HIS HOME IS IN INDIANAPOLIS

James Hoskins, a twelve-year-old colored boy, was arrested Saturday afternoon for stealing a bicycle belonging to Charles Caron. He will appear before Judge Blair late this afternoon in juvenile court. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hoskins of Indianapolis and has been in this city most of the summer.

When accused of taking the bicycle he denied it, but later told Policeman Wolters where it was and went with the officer. It was found in the alley back of R. P. Havens' residence in North Main street. During the past week the boy got into a great deal of trouble and was warned by the police. On several different occasions he charged goods to a man he had been working for at the various grocery stores and was caught in the act at one place. Hoskins is the boy that has been going to the Palace theater free of charge on the pretense that he was looking for his mother.

DEMOCRATS PLAY FOR SPITE WORK

Wayne County Democrats Do Not Take Seriously Story of Plot to Defeat Gray.

DO NOT FAVOR CHARLES HACK

Admits That Congressman Has Made Enemies by Distribution of Political Favors.

Local Democratic leaders are not taking seriously the announcement that back of the candidacy of Charles A. Hack, of Shelbyville, for the district chairmanship of the Sixth, there is a deep laid plot to crystallize sentiment against Representative Finley Gray, and to defeat him in his race for the position at the next election, says the Richmond Item.

A prominent Democrat said this morning: "Finley Gray will be nominated and elected. If the Democrats, however, do nominate some one else that person will be defeated. Gray is the man that can swing the Sixth district Democratic."

A number of Democrats confided recently that the distribution of political favors by Gray had not met with entire satisfaction among all the Democrats of the district, and that there was not a concurrence in all his acts, but that, nevertheless, Gray was the logical man to make the fight.

They admitted that Hack had a large following in the district and was an astute politician. They also admitted that the frequent attempts of Charles Beck of this city, to land a position in the party would mitigate against his chances of landing the Democratic district chairmanship. They have pledged him their support in the race and will stand by him against Hack.

Hack has the backing of a coterie of politicians who long ago made their influence felt in State politics. All of them have been vigorously boosting the candidacy of Hack. Hack is a member of the law firm of Meiks & Hack. He is a brother of Oren Hack, of Indianapolis, and it is surmised that his brother will lend a hand and assist in his fight for the leadership of the Democratic hosts of this district.

Daffydil Doings Down In Dippy Dell

Sam L. Trabue had just returned from Niagara where he had been falling for the Falls. He reported a big drop in watered stock on his return. He said the water was fine when it rolled off his rubber coat and he wrote postal cards back home and signed them the fall guy. He sat complacently in his office waiting for some business when a woman came in and said that she wanted a divorce. She had no sooner let the terrible words fall from her mouth than in tore her husband. He was frothing at the mouth and was as mad as a hornet on a winter's day. He expostulated at length and cried that he would shoot the attorney who offered to get a divorce for his wife. Sam Trabue was a calm spectator to the whole proceedings. He persuaded the infuriated husband to desist long enough for him to say that he would do as the woman liked, he being a chivalrous gentleman. Thereupon the husband whipped a brand new forty-seven cylinder revolver and stuck it at the attorney's foot. The lawyer persisted and the husband just gave him six more opportunities to repeat that he would get a divorce before he said he would shoot him square through the little toe. The suspense was heartrending with the woman sobbing and the disgruntled husband cursing. Hist! There are footsteps on the stairs. In rushes Abe Bowen who declaimed in an oratorical manner, "If Charlie VanCamp swept the theater floors every day, would the management stand for Merle Maupin?"

TAKES ANOTHER WORLD'S RECORD

Harrie Jones Gives to Two Horses Marks of 2:03 1/4 or Better in One Afternoon.

RACES AT FT. WAYNE, INDIANA

Lowers Alcyfras' Mark 1/4 of Second and Drives George Gano a Mile in 2:02.

The local horseman, Harrie Jones, who raced a stable at Ft. Wayne last week, gained another world's record by giving two horses records of 2:03 1/4 and better the same day, a feat that was never accomplished by any man, that of driving two different horses to as fast records in the same afternoon.

The first horse he marked was Rushville's favorite mare, Alcyfras, whose record up to this time was 2:03 1/2. She was started to beat the track record of 2:03 3/4, held by Robert J., 2:01 1/2. She did the trick by going a mile in 2:03 1/4, thus lowering her record a quarter of a second.

The other horse he marked was the pacer, George Gano, that Mr. Jones drove in the United States Grand Championship race for pacers. He won the first and third heats, and raced in 2:02 and 2:04 1/4. He dropped the second heat to Lady Maud C. in 2:03, thus giving George Gano a new record, and in this race he defeated Minor Heir 1:58 1/2, Lady Maud C., 2:00 1/2, and Hedgewood Boy, 2:01, giving Mr. Jones credit of winning with the slowest horse, whose record was 2:02 3/4.

Another thing to be taken into consideration was the track. The horses were unable to race over it until three o'clock in the afternoon, and at no time could they get closer than second position to the pole.

Mr. Jones has shipped all of his horses to this city where he will lay them up this week and then ship them to Lexington, where they will race at the two weeks' fall meeting. He has started his horses in sixty-three races, has won twenty-six firsts, seventeen seconds and been out of the money but five times.

PASTOR WILL NOT RETURN

The Rev. J. W. Turner Will be As-

It is reported by members of the St. Paul, M. E. church of this city, who have been attending the M. E. conference now in session at Bloomington, that the Rev. J. W. Turner will not be assigned to this church the coming year. The Rev. J. W. Turner has been here several years and is the oldest minister in the city in point of years of service. Members of the church do not know who will be sent here. The assignments were to be made this afternoon.

CITES ANOTHER EXAMPLE IN LETTER

Anonymous Letter Writer of Indianapolis Shows Indiana City Gets New Railway Station.

WHY CAN'T RUSHVILLE DO SAME

That Indianapolis resident who is "plugging" for a new C. H. & D. station in Rushville is still on the job. He or she, whoever it may be, has already addressed several anonymous letters to the Daily Republican and the Rushville Retail Merchants Association, all of which have been published. As yet the business men of Rushville have taken no action in the matter, but it was considered at a recent meeting of the business men and the impression was left that they would consider it later. The following clipping from the Indianapolis News was mailed to the Republican:

The State railroad commission has issued an order, prepared by Commissioner Payne, directing the Big Four to erect a passenger station at Jeffersonville. The order was based on a complaint by James W. Fortune, city attorney for Jeffersonville, acting for the city authorities. The station now used is two blocks from the Ohio river bridge, is sixty-five feet above the street level and reached only by a wooden stairway, and has no sanitary facilities and not enough room to accommodate the passengers. Construction must be begun, according to the order, in sixty days and the structure completed in six months.

HORSE DIED AFTER EATING CHEMICAL

Lesse Creed of Manilla Brings Unusual Suit Against John W.
Gahimer, Garage Owner.

WANTS 500 DOLLARS DAMAGES

Lesse E. Creed of Manilla, through his attorneys, Megee & Kiplinger, filed a very unusual suit in the circuit court late this afternoon against John W. Gahimer, demanding five hundred dollars damages. Creed alleges that Gahimer, who owns an automobile garage in Manilla, took from light generators on automobiles the residue of calcium carbide and threw it into Creed's pasture which adjoins the Gahimer garage. The plaintiff declares in the complaint that a valuable mare of his which he held to be worth five hundred dollars, ate the calcium carbide and died from the effects of it. Creed charges that it was pure carelessness and negligence that led Gahimer to throw the chemical into his lot.

Democratic State Administration Resorts to Summary Action For Third Time Recently.

MAKES QUICK CALL FOR MONEY

County Treasurers Must Dig Deep in Their Pockets and Make up Deficiency.

For the third time this year the Democratic State administration has weathered a financial rifle by summary action. Following a call on county treasurers for a percentage of the money due in the June settlement and a transfer of the entire State debt sinking fund and the benevolent institution fund, a total sum of $630,000 to the general fund in July, the State board of finance last week thrust its hand to the very bottom of the State's pocket. Will McBride, county treasurer, received notice to dig Saturday.

Governor Marshall called the board together, and at the conclusion of the meeting it was announced that a call on the county treasurers of the State for all funds now in their possession belonging to the State would be made immediately. That money is not due in the State treasury until December.

In former years, it is said, similar action has been taken, but never before, according to State officials, has the entire amount of funds on hand been demanded in advance payments from county treasurers. W. H. O'Brien, auditor of State, and his deputies would put no estimate on the amount of money which this sudden call will bring into the State treasury.

JERSEY BREEDER WINS IN SOUTH

John F. Boyd Takes Prize in Every Class in Which he Showed at Louisville, Ky.

TO VISIT OTHER STATE FAIRS

Although John F. Boyd, proprietor of the Riverside stock farm in Jersey City, is carrying a herd of only nine Jerseys with him he is taking about all of the prizes that are offered in the Jersey class at the State fairs. At the Kentucky State fair at Louisville last week he won six firsts and three seconds or a prize in every class in which he showed. He showed his herd against prominent Jersey breeders as Lassater of Falfurrias, Texas, James and Tom Middleton and W. L. Scott & Son of Kentucky, and Garth of Tennessee. All of these breeders are wealthy men and can well afford to buy the best Jerseys that are to be had. Mr. Boyd bred and raised most of the individuals in his herd. The herd was shipped from Louisville to Nashville, Tenn., where it will be shown this week. From there it will be sent to Memphis, Tenn., and from there to Springfield, Illinois to the Illinois State fair.

His prizes were won in the following classes. First in two-year-old bull, first in two-year-old cow, first in heifer calf; first in aged herd, first in breeder's young herd, first and second in produce of cow, second in male calf and second in one-year-old heifer.

Six Reasons Why I Bought a

Maxwell

RECENTLY one of our salesmen asked a customer our usual question, "Why he had bought a Maxwell car?" While the customer had a great many general reasons, borne of careful personal investigation, he stated six main reasons that influenced his purchase:

- | | |
|---|--|
| First. "Because there are over 43,000 users of Maxwell cars, a safe and sure endorsement." Second. Because the State Department statistics show that of 768 Maxwells registered in New York State during 1905 and 1906, 702 again registered this year, proving absolute durability. Third. Because of the company's financial soundness and policy of 'square dealing' and monthly inspection service. | Fourth. Because Maxwell uniform construction is first-class, simple, accessible, durable and easy to care for. Fifth. Because the Maxwell is the most economical car to maintain. Sixth. Because so many merchants, physicians and farmers, whose businesses absolutely demand unfailing and economical service, employ them." |

This customer tells the Maxwell story as we have preached it for years. Maxwell cars earned their reputation for reliability, durability and economical maintenance during eight years of continual effort and achievement.

Financially the strongest in the country, our "square deal and inspection policy" ensures continuance in business and guarantees service.

Maxwell construction is famous. Unit construction, three-point suspension, multiple-disc clutch, water cooling, metal bodies, features approved by the foremost engineers and now adopted by all high-priced cars, were incorporated in the first Maxwell. Being mechanically right, Maxwell cars necessarily give right results.

Over 14,450 physicians, 2,500 firms (some using as many as 35), 14,620 farmers are using Maxwell cars for business purposes. That is an enduring tribute to Maxwell superior construction, durability, freedom from care and economical maintenance. We point with pride to this unrivalled commercial endorsement.

If you intend making a motor car investment, don't fail to investigate the Maxwell. More Maxwells are sold through personal investigation than in any other way.

Let us tell you all about Maxwell cars. "How to Judge An Automobile," the best book published on the subject, which you can use as the basis of comparison with other cars, is yours for the asking. Write us today. A postal will do. Just say, "Mail Books."

WOULD KEEP A RECORD OF DOGS

Dr. J. P. Simonds of State Health Laboratory Prepares Blanks to Send to Physicians.

TO REPORT MAD DOG "SCARE"

Pasteur Fund Proves Insufficient For Payment of Cases Being Treated by Board.

A series of uniform blanks is being prepared by Dr. J. P. Simonds, superintendent of the laboratory of hygiene of the State Board of Health, for distribution of physicians of the state, to be used in reporting hydrophobia "scares" in their communities. The blanks will contain questions regarding the number of dogs bitten by a supposed rabid animal and the number of persons with whom each of the bitten animals has come in contact. Dr. Simonds believes that by the use of blanks the "scares" may be handled with a greater degree of certainty of eradication.

That the cost of treating persons of the state, supposed to have been exposed to rabies, will exceed the amount set aside for annual use is prophesied by members of the state board, though it is believed that the number of persons applying to the state for help in the winter months will be less than through the summer. The first case under the new Pasteur law was treated at the State Laboratory, July 12. Since that time sixteen persons have been treated at an average cost of more than $50. At that rate, officials of the state board estimate that the entire cost of the state under the law will approximate $4,800 a year, unless there is a marked decrease during the winter months.

The law allows a total expenditure by the state board for rabies treatment of $3,000. During the two months in which the law has been in effect the approximate cost to the state has been $800. Since the state board has been obtaining the virus for treatment from the laboratories of the United States government, the cost of each series of treatments has decreased appreciably.

TOMATO CROP GOOD.

Contrary to expectations a few weeks ago, when the weather was so dry, the tomato crop is a splendid success and the quality is fine. The farmers who are growing tomatoes this year are finding them big payers, as they get a considerable advance over last year.

HOME GROWN PEACH BUTTS IN

Michigan Variety Tastes Like a Gourd When Compared to Rush County Ones.

HAS THE FLAVOR THIS YEAR

More Peaches Being Canned Than Ever Before in County's History—One Drawback.

More peaches are going into cans in Rush county than ever before in the county's history, but fewer peaches are being sold by local grocers than in any other canning season. The foregoing statement simply means that Rush county is in large measure supplying itself with peaches this year. The farmers have not only enough peaches for themselves, but enough to supply several of their city cousins. It is said that more home grown peaches will be marketed in Rushville this year than ever before in the city's history.

"The Rush county peach is not as large, as a rule, as the peach that comes to us from the lake regions," said a grocer to a Daily Republican reporter today, "but when it comes to flavor there is no comparison. A well developed, thoroughly ripened Rush county peach makes the finest Michigan Alberta that ever blushed on top of a market basket taste like a gourd. Homegrown peaches are fairly plentiful this year, and that is why the Michigan crop is in such light demand here."

The grocers keep track on the peach business through their sales of cans and sugar. They know the sales of these articles are out of proportion with the peach sales. The grocer knows from this that while the people are getting their cans and sugar for him, they are getting their peaches from someone else—the farmer.

"We are going to sell some Michigan peaches, though," said the grocer. "The local crop is getting pretty well in, and those who have not already supplied themselves will have to buy Michigan peaches or do without. In my judgement, right now is the time to buy Michigan peaches to get good ones. The price is right—ranging from $1.50 to $2.00 a bushel, and the peaches that are coming now are the best of the crop. Rush county has done pretty well toward supplying itself with peaches this year, but it still lacks several thousand bushels of having enough."

There is one thing, however, that is putting a crimp in the peach-canning business. The high cost of sugar. For the last six weeks sugar has been steadily climbing. The advance has been from one and one-half to two cents a pound. Granulated sugar was selling for six cents not so very long ago. Now you have to pay eight cents at most places, and you can not get it anywhere for less than seven.

It takes plenty of sugar to make peaches just what they ought to be, and when the consumer feels that the sweetening is coming too high, he is disposed not to do so much canning, even if peaches are plentiful and cheap.

It is believed that Rush county is going to aim to do more and more toward supplying itself with peaches. The farmers have found out that they can grow peaches—good ones—and can get good prices for them. They are putting out a few trees each year, the aim being to keep a few new ones coming along all the time. They have found out, too, how to safeguard both the trees and the fruit against the insect pests that once were so destructive.

While most Rush county peaches are of the earlier varieties, there are a good many farmers who have well-filled trees on which the fruit will not be ripe before the first of October. It is not unlikely that there will be peaches in the local market for five or six weeks yet, though it is probably true, as the grocer stated, that now is the best time to get peaches, both price and quality considered.

A runaway horse, the property of Russell Wiggins, of Knightstown, who is digging a gas well north of Raleigh, on the William Greenwood farm, was the cause of much excitement in that vicinity Wednesday morning. The animal was hitched to a buggy and was left standing near the gas well. The horse scared and broke loose and ran for a half mile before it was caught. There was no one in the rig at the time.

CONSERVATION CONGRESS WILL BE DEVOTED TO THE FARMERS

Topics of Interest to Them Compose the Program

President Taft the Feature of Opening Day

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

THE conservation congress of this year is devoted chiefly to the farmer. Most of the subjects already announced relate to some phase of agriculture or to the country life movement. The keynote of the gathering is conservation of the soil. A statement by Gifford Pinchot made two years ago shows that in America the average wheat yield is less than fourteen bushels per acre, while in Germany it is twenty-eight and in England thirty-two bushels per acre. The contrast is made all the more glaring by the fact that most of our soil has been in use less than a hundred years, while that of Germany and England has been farmed a thousand years or more. Yet naturally there is no richer soil on earth than that of the Mississippi valley and of other portions of the United States.

Why, then, is the yield of this fertile and virgin soil less than one-half that of the two older nations? Obviously because we have not resorted to intensive and scientific farming to the same extent as Europe. The small amount of land available and the necessity of forcing this land to produce to its full capacity have compelled the European farmers to get out of every acre its greatest possible yield. Here, where we have had millions of acres unused, we have squandered our resources and neglected our opportunities. Now that our country is more thickly settled we are beginning to face similar conditions to those of Europe. We must learn the same lesson that the older nations learned long ago. Hence we have the conservation movement—conservation of forests, conservation of natural resources, including water power and minerals, and conservation of soil.

What Farmers Must Study.

Rotation of crops, fertilizing, more careful and intelligent methods, closer economy, co-operation in buying and selling, are among the things that American farmers must study. All of these subjects are treated in the conservation congress. One entire session is devoted to soil conservation. It will be presided over by F. D. Coburn, secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture, and among the speakers will be ex-Governor W. D. Hoard of Wisconsin, editor of Hoard's Dairyman; Dr. F. D. Mumford, dean of the school of agriculture, University of Missouri; Professor E. M. Ten Eyck of Kansas and Professor Cyril G. Hopkins of the University of Illinois.

Among other subjects that should interest farmers are "The Trend of the Conservation Movement," by Dr. W. J. McGee of the bureau of soils; Washington; "The Social Life on the Farm," by Professor T. C. Atkinson of West Virginia, overseer of the national grange; "The Country Church," by Dr. Warren H. Wilson, superintendent of the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church; "The Country Life Movement," by Walter H. Page, editor of the World's Work and a member of President Roosevelt's country life commission; "Co-operation Among Farmers," by W. A. Beard of the same commission and "Cutting Out the Middleman," by Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America.

Mr. Barrett's Address.

The title of Mr. Barrett's address is especially significant in view of the fact that the state granges of New York and Pennsylvania have already started a movement in New York city to eliminate the middleman by bringing the farmer and retailer together, hoping thus to increase prices to the farmer and reduce those to the consumer. If this movement succeeds in New York it is the design of the grange to extend it to every city of the country. If the Farmers' union also takes up a similar work it will enlist most of the organized farmers of the land, for it is altogether the largest association of its kind in America, containing millions of members, mostly in the south, while the grange is strong in the north. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has also been talking along this line, advocating that the consumers organize in the same way that the farmers are organized.

The address of Mr. Beard on "Co-operation Among Farmers" follows the same general direction. This begins to look like business. If the American people learn to co-operate on the Rochdale plan or on any other honest, sensible plan the high prices question will be in the way of solution. This is a great country, they tell us the greatest in the world, with the best government. Granted. Yet no country was ever so great that it could not learn. Now and then the best of nations reach the point where they simply have to readjust themselves to new conditions. Have we not reached that point now? With the constant boosting of prices to consumers without any corresponding increase in the prices paid to farmers are we not compelled in the very nature of things to protect ourselves? The producers and consumers constitute the vast bulk of the people. Yet between these two the predatory interests place themselves and grab the lion's share of profits. They force down the amount paid the producer and raise that charged the consumer, thus enriching themselves at the expense of both. In the old days the feudal baron took a position on the main traveled roads and compelled all merchants passing that way to pay tribute. The modern baron camps out on the road that leads from the producer to the consumer and levies a larger tribute than ever did his feudal prototype. It is the nature of this species to increase their exactions. The more they get the more they want. Finally their demands grow so insolent and oppressive that their victims combine to put them out of business. That was the history of the feudal robber, and that promises to be the story of his latter day successor.

It is to be hoped that speakers in the conservation congress may have the patriotism, the love of humanity and the courage to handle this question without gloves. If so they will interest not only the farmer, but all classes of the population. This, too, belongs to conservation, for it means the conserving of the people's means. Money is the equivalent of all other forms of held the same office under Roosevelt; Gifford Pinchot, who was given a notable oration at the last convention; Senator Joseph L. Bristow of Kansas, who speaks on "The Farm and the Postal Service;" Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, whose subject is "Conservation in Congress;" Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who will talk on "The Health of the People;" Captain J. B. White of Kansas City, chairman of the executive committee, whose theme is "Practical Forestry in Europe and America;" Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, who delivers the address of welcome; Governor Walter Roscoe Stubbs of Kansas, who presides over a conference of the governors present, and perhaps Speaker Champ Clark and William Jennings Bryan.

The Convention Hall.

The great hall in which the convention meets is the same that housed the Democratic national convention in 1900. It seats 15,000 people, but will be filled to its capacity with delegates alone if even a fraction of those attend who are entitled to do so. The governor of each state is authorized to appoint fifteen delegates, and mayors of all cities over 25,000 name five delegates each and of those under 25,000 three each. Three is also the number allotted to each board of county commissioners throughout all the states of the Union. Each national and state organization having to do with conservation names five delegates, each state university, college, agricultural college or experiment station names two, and each board of trade, commercial club, or similar organization is entitled to three. Then there are a large number of honorary members who have been invited. Altogether there is a possibility of 50,000 delegates to the convention. Of course not all of these can attend; but, the railroads having made a special rate, there may be ex-property, and therefore the man or combination of men who have the power to take away the money of the common citizen can thereby confiscate his home and livelihood and destroy his life itself.

Other Subjects.

The country life movement, the improvement of the country school, church and social conditions and the betterment of the farmer's lot generally are also scheduled to occupy a considerable portion of the convention's attention. This was a pet theme during Roosevelt's administration, but has dropped out of sight somewhat since. Now it is again to come to the front, thus giving notice that the Roosevelt influence is still dominant in the conservation association. It could not be otherwise with Gifford Pinchot as president. It should be explained in passing that, while Mr. Pinchot is head of the association, Henry Wallace of Iowa is president of the conservation congress. Wallace is also a member of the country life commission. In commenting on the prominent place given to the farmers on the program Mr. Wallace said this happened by design. He expressed the hope that when the proceedings of the convention were printed they would form an authoritative handbook for the American farmer.

President Taft will be at the convention and deliver an address. He has the evening of Sept. 25, the opening day, all to himself. The convention meets in the auditorium in Kansas City Sept. 25-27, inclusive. Among the other speakers scheduled are Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher, who stops on his way back from Alaska; James R. Garfield, who pected an immense outpouring of people from the section of country close to Kansas City.

The conservation movement in America is comparatively young, this being the third of these annual conferences, but already it has millions of adherents. Last year there was an immense gathering at St. Paul, and a president and an ex-president were among the speakers. The subject then was public lands, and quite a little factional feeling was aroused between the respective adherents of federal and state control. Theodore Roosevelt made the chief address on the big box of federal control and was ably seconded by former Senator Beveridge of Indiana and others. James J. Hill made a rather vigorous speech in behalf of state control.

In later years there has sprung up in America a cluster of movements that, while in one sense idealistic, are still practical and highly necessary. Among these may be mentioned the good roads, country life, back to the farm, city beautiful, reclamation and conservation movements, all of which are kindred and aim at a common goal. With rather lofty scorn Uncle Joe Cannon would doubtless lump them all under the general head of "uplift." Closely associated with these is the effort toward co-operation in city and country. More and more the masses of the people are being influenced by the spirit of these labors in their behalf, for they are beginning to realize that they will be the ones to reap the benefit. Taken together these lines of endeavor constitute one of the most hopeful signs of this age. The cause is humanitarian and means the increase of beauty and of human happiness.

RICHES IN CHURCHES.

I am in fullest sympathy with the work of the Christian church, but I am not in sympathy with any movement that tends to commercialize it. I believe adequate salaries should be paid preachers and further believe that if less money were paid out in fashionable churches in the great cities and more fair provision made for a fund that would insure better remuneration for preachers in small communities throughout the world much good would result. The big preacher in the big church does not reach the masses. Preachers in little churches throughout the country reach the people, and not only people in the sense of numbers, but also in the sense that they are people whose hearts are not calloused by Mammon. The masses of our country offer the proper soil for the growth of religion.—Governor Osborn of Michigan.

TRADE AND TARIFF.

Protective duties are of no more value between the United States and Canada than they would be between Minnesota and Wisconsin. The notion that the price of any farm product of which we produce a surplus is affected by a duty on imports is a relic of economic ignorance too dense for this century. When we do not produce a surplus, but have to buy abroad, it will be to the advantage of the home consumer to buy as reasonably as possible. Canada is our nearest neighbor and our most advantageous market for either buying or selling. The spirit that opposes reciprocity because there is in it some advantage for Canada would destroy all commerce. Trade is built upon the principle that both parties profit by a fair interchange of products.—James J. Hill.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN

An Illinois Central Special Officer Meets Death at Mounds.

Mounds, Ill., Sept. 18.—As a result of the strike of sixty-two Illinois Central yard and freight clerks in the office here, Special Agent McKnight was shot to death early Sunday morning by City Policeman Walbridge. McKnight had gone over to the city with a strike breaker to mail a letter and on their return John Walbridge, son of Policeman Walbridge, being on duty, attempted to speak to them. The special officer drew a revolver and started shooting. Policeman Walbridge emptied an automatic revolver at McKnight, inflicting three wounds that caused his death. The coroner's jury released the Walbridges on a verdict of justifiable homicide.

FOOD INSPECTORS ACCOMPLISH GOOD

Report of State Chemist Shows That 1,186 Establishments are Visited During August.

23 PLACES ARE CONDEMNED

H. E. Barnard, chemist of the State Board of Health, yesterday, completed his report for August on inspections of Indiana establishments where food or drugs are sold. The total number of inspections made was 1,186. Twelve business places were found to be in excellent condition, while twenty-three were rated as bad, and from the latter list many prosecutions have been or will be made. Almost one-half of the places visited by inspectors were rated "good," the number being 637. Of the remainder, 447 were rated "fair" and sixty-seven were rated "poor."

Of the specimens of food examined forty-six were found legal and thirty-nine were found illegal. One specimen of coffee was found impure and three specimens of vinegar were pronounced illegal. Twenty-three specimens of milk were found illegal, against twenty-one specimens found legal. Six examinations of ice cream resulted in disclosure of impurities, while only one sample examined was found pure.

Two specimens of creamery butter were pronounced illegal. Four samples of lemon extract and three samples of vanilla extract examined showed adulteration and three samples of camphor were found illegal. Of the specimens of drugs examined twenty-one were legal and sixteen illegal.

JUST PLAIN LUCK.

Connersville News: A man from Urbana, Illinois, who was searching for a young son, walked into a Rushville pool room and at the suggestion of a police officer walked about the room. He found his son sitting in a chair watching the game. The Rushville Jacksonian sees in this a case of telepathy. It may be that but most of us would regard it as a piece of extra good luck.

Senator LaFollette says that he will wait and see what President Taft has to say in his December message, before determining what his future attitude toward the administration will be. If President Taft hopes to meet the approval of Senator LaFollette he will have to prove in that message that the Wisconsin politician is just the man for president of the United States.

Now comes the announcement from Indianapolis that the economical Sate administration is making an unprecedented record as a spendthrift.
Three times the administration has dug down deep into the pockets of the county treasurers over the State and taken the good money months before it was due. Possibly it would have been best had our Democratic friends not made the grandstand play about economy during the last campaign, for then the present actions would not have been so noticeable. But the grandstand play accomplished its purpose. It appealed to the popular mind and won the votes. But how is the next candidate for governor to explain the unfulfilled promises?

The Farmer's Guide discusses the wool tariff from an impartial standpoint, but whether it believes it a good thing or a bad thing for the wool-grower or whether it believes the duty should be ninety or forty per cent is not disclosed in its editorial. However, there is a bit of common sense in the following paragraph. A protective tariff will not make any product grow spontaneously and unless wool growers take advantage of protection and develop the industry, it will never reach the proportions in the United States to supply the demands of the country.

The sheep industry needs more than a high protective tariff to make it prosper. This has been amply demonstrated. One thing that is needed is a better appreciation of the economy of a small flock of sheep on the average farm as a means of turning the grass and weeds of the out-of-the-way places into profit. A few sheep will keep down the weeds to a surprising extent and will make a living on what ordinarily goes to waste. Fewer dogs and more sheep on the small farms ought to make considerable difference in favor of the farmer and the consumer as well.

Capital is uncertain which way to turn, says an exchange. The government and congress are interfering with almost every conceivable business and great corporations are still up in the air regarding judicial decisions.

This country should be prosperous and capital should have many avenues for investment. For a number of years now crops and prices have been unusually good; and this season the falling off after so long a term of bountiful harvests, should not be noticeable in trade results.
Population is increasing, the West is filling and wealth is being added at a remarkable rate. But the incentive is lacking. This spasm of so-called reform is interfering with business.

An irresponsible congress has done greivous harm to business. Democratic leadership would have placed the country in jeopardy if it had been permitted to go unchecked. President Taft's latest veto messages are interesting reading in this respect. It demonstrates that the leadership of the opposition is in dangerous hands.
The leaders proved themselves to be cheap politicians. They would have played ducks and drakes with internal revenues and with many departments of commerce to gain a passing notoriety. They are of the demagoogic class that is of greater danger to the republic than any external foe.

TO WEATHER A SMALL RIFFLE

the board it was evident that the officials believed a crisis had arisen in the financial condition of the State.
According to these minutes, all appropriations that might be called for between the present date and September 30 would amount to $560,- 518.68, while the balance in the State treasury last week was $173,- 982.49, with estimated receipts of $98,894.96 from official fees and $30,000 from other sources as the only buffer against the large amount of bills that must be met by September 30.

The month of September calls for a double drain upon the State treasury, the official said. The end of the month is the end of the fiscal year, and the beginning of the month finds all August bills due, while the payments of September bills must be made in the same month they are contracted.

Officials in the office of Mr. O'Brien would place no figures before the State as to its financial condition, asserting that they were at sea at present on the proposition. It is believed that for many years the funds of a subsequent year have not been drawn upon, as in the present instance, to meet the obligations of the current twelve months.

In former cases, where such a call as that of last week has been made, records show that only a part of the whole amount of money in the hands of county treasurers has been asked, and that in practically all cases that revenue has been used to retire portions of the State debt. The call this year is said to have been made for the purpose of meeting only current expenses, including, however, numerous appropriation bills which become due before September 30.

Although no figures were given out as to the appropriations that are due and must be met, the Democratic officials said that action of the finance board was necessary because the legislature of 1909 had made appropriations in excess of the estimated revenues of the State.

FIRST CALL FOR CANDIDATES

Aspirants to Football Team to Report
This Evening.

It was expected that the first practice by the high school football squad would be held this evening. Football in the high school this season is a very uncertain quantity as yet. Last year the team was organized, but did not accomplish much. The call has been issued for candidates for the varsity to come out for practice this evening and the material will be looked over to see if it gives promise of a good eleven. There is every reason to believe that a good team can be made out of the material in high school at present if the proper interest in the game can be aroused.

ESCAPE TAX LAW PENALTY

Several Delinquent Indiana Corporations May Compromise Yet.

Several Indiana corporations which have failed to pay the Federal corporation tax will not be forced to pay the penalty ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 as provided by the law.
The internal revenue collectors of the state have been notified to arrange for compromises with the delinquent corporations. It is stated, however, that no amount less than $10 is to be accepted as a compromise, and it is believed that the effect of the notice will result in many settlements at that amount. The compromises will not be made by the revenue officials.
Instead, the sum of $10 will be forwarded to the Treasury Department in instances where corporations pay the amount. Adequacy of the amount will be determined by the department.

Notice of Administration.

Notice is hereby give that the undesignated has been appointed by the

SWINDLER IS VERY SMOOTH INDIVIDUAL

Represents Himself as Agent For a Combination Tool Concern and Carries Exhibits.

HE ESTABLISHES AGENCIES

An unusually artistic swindler is making the rounds and not long ago succeeded in robing a number of people in adjoining counties to the tune of $40 to $60 each. He represents himself as the general agent of a Kansas City concern, which he said made the combination tool which he exhibited. It was a good tool, pincers, hammer, pliers, wire cutter, etc., well made, useful and seemed to be first class in every respect. He was establishing township and county agencies, and as evidence of the ease with which it could be sold he exhibited fifty or more orders he had taken from good farmers in the community. What he wanted now was a good, responsible man, well known in the county, who would act as agent, receive and distribute the tools already ordered and take such orders as came to him. He offered to pay a good commission for his work and he asked no cash. He was willing to turn over the orders he had already taken and allow the usual commission on each one of these if the new agent would receive, deliver and collect for them. To protect the firm, however, he thought he ought to have a note for the value of the tools already ordered and which would be shipped the next week. In his anxiety to get the good commission which he had not earned the new agent gave the note. No tools ever came, and the note turned up afterward at the bank for collection.

MIRIAM DAILEY RETURNS A BRIDE

Local Relatives Receive Telegram That Indianapolis Miss is Located in Illinois.

DISAPPEARED LAST TUESDAY

She and Lionel P. Gilbert Eloped to Robinson, Ill., and Were Wedded Wednesday.

Rushville relatives of Miss Miriam Dailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dailey of Indianapolis, received a telegram Saturday evening announcing the marriage of Miss Dailey to Lionel P. Gilbert, an Indianapolis young man. Miss Dailey, it will be remembered, disappeared from home Tuesday evening and from the first it was surmised by her parents that she had eloped. The Indianapolis Star has the following to say of their return home:

Miriam Louise Dailey, seventeen years old, who departed Tuesday night from her home, without the knowledge of her parents, returned Saturday with her husband, Lionel P. Gilbert. Mr. Gilbert and Miss Dailey were married in Robinson, Ill., Wednesday and were found at Willow Hill, at the home of Mr. Gilbert's parents, Friday, by the young woman's brother, H. R. Dailey, who had been searching for her.

Following the girl's disappearance, the police were asked to investigate the case. The girl's father, Louis E. Dailey, and her two brothers spent all night and the next day looking for her. The mother suffered a severe shock and not until Saturday did she regain her composure, when assured by telegram that the two had been found.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert arrived in Indianapolis at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, and because her husband's presence was necessary at Willow Hill yesterday, where he is transacting a land deal, they departed after a few hours' visit. From Willow Hill they will go to Sioux City, Iowa, where the bridegroom and his uncle will conduct a machine shop.

Speaking of the search for his sister and her husband, H. R. Dailey said:

"After going to all automobile garages in Indianapolis I found out that a young man fitting Gilbert's description had hired an auto Tuesday night. I felt assured that my sister had left in a machine that had been waiting in the rear of the house. I knew Gilbert and gambled on him as the other party to the affair.

"I found from the chauffeur that they had taken an 8:30 o'clock interurban car to Terre Haute, intending to go to Robinson. I went there and found the two at the home of Gilbert's parents. My sister, of course, was surprised to see me, but she and her husband came home readily."

Louis E. Dailey, the father, forgave the lovers.

"I always told Miriam that she was too young to 'keep company' with any one, and I guess that was the reason she and Gilbert have been going together quietly for a year. Now that they are married, it's all right."

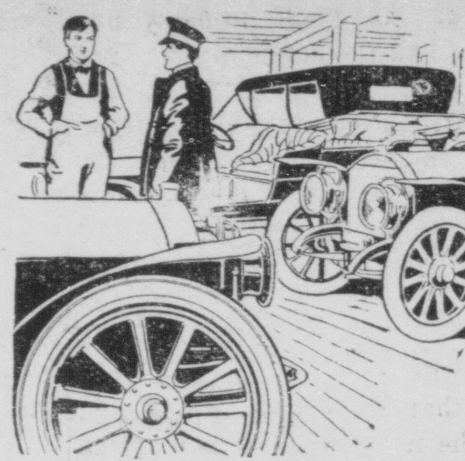

Gilbert is 21 years old and has been working as a machinist in Indianapolis for the last year. He met Miss Dailey a year ago, when she was a junior in Shortridge high school. Mrs. Gilbert is an accomplished musician and is well known among high school students.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have a program of unusual interest tonight. The Selig film, "The Way of the Esquimos," is a picture dealing with the far north and is said to be instructive and educational as well as a dramatic picture. "The Lost Horse" is a Lubin comedy.

A Biograph and an Essanay film will be on the program at the Portola tonight. The Essanay is a western drama "The Corporation and the Ranch Girl." It is said to be a very clever picture, telling of how a ranch girl got the best of a great corporation and showing the novel manner in which she accomplished the feat. The Biograph is entitled "The Zealous Husband." It tells a story of every day life and how a truant "hubby" got his just deserts.

"Rosalind at Redgate," by the author of "The House of a Thousand Candles," will be the offering at the Auditorium, Connersville, on Monday, Sept. 25. The play is a dramatization of Meredith Nicholson's novel of the same title. The new play is like its predecessor. It is brimful of action, from the first to the last, and rich in humor and brilliant dialogue. The plot concerns a gentle old lady who endeavors to keep her two scape-grace brothers from gaining possession of an even million of money with her father left in her care. The two men have each a lovely daughter, who are as alike as two peas, and it is this wonderful likeness between them upon which the author builds his complications.

"Rosalind at Redgate," according to advance press notices, is proving the big romantic play of the year, and is even exceeding "The House of a Thousand Candles," Mr. Nicholson's first success, in popularity.

FAMOUS JUDGE IS EMPLOYED

H. E. VanDeman, A Veteran Fruit Grower, Will Tie on Premiums at Apple Show.

WORKED FOR UNITED STATES

Believes Fruit Can be Raised in Indiana Which Can Compete With Any.

H. E. VanDeman, a veteran fruit grower, long in the service of the U. S. Government, and one of the most able authorities in apples in America, will tie the prize ribbons on the winning fruit in the Indiana Apple Show, at Indianapolis, the week of Nov. 6. Mr. VanDeman is very familiar with fruit growing in Indiana, throughout the Middle West and has broad knowledge of apple culture as it is followed over the country. He was born in Ohio and lived there until 23 years old, was a "homesteader" in Kansas, where he started a fruit farm on the prairie, and he has been a judge of apples at many of the important shows over the country. He awarded the prizes of the Indiana State Horticultural Society at South Bend a short time ago.

Mr. VanDeman believes that it is possible for Indiana orchardists to produce fruit of such quality that it can compete in the markets with the growers of Hood River and other apple regions. Doubtless the Hoosiers could do more than meet their western competitors in the eastern markets because of shipping rates. "It is a fact," Mr. VanDeman says, "that almost every purchaser who goes to market to buy fruit expects to be cheated in the package. He does not expect to get the same stuff below as on top. If Hoosiers expect to meet the far western growers on a fair and square basis, they must do it on the western plan. There are a number of factors that enter into the growing of fruit besides good cultivation, good health, spraying and thinning. There is the method of grading and packing, and grading is a very critical matter with the western growers. They do it in a strict manner, leaving out all apples that will not pay for transcontinental transportation. The bushel is a very handy package for the consumer, for in cities they do not have facilities for taking care of apples by the barrel. Many people buy far western apples in preference to the eastern because they do not have to buy so many, and when they see these on the top layer of a box they see the quality that is to be found in the bottom."

Mr. VanDeman urges that Hoosiers become skillful in the packing of fruit, not only to send the best looking trays and boxes safely to the Indiana show, but it means much in the successful marketing of the fruit. To get Oregon prices for Indiana apples, he says, the Hoosier orchardist must make diligent study of Oregon growing, grading, packing and shipping method. If there is one reform more than another needed among growers in Indiana, he thinks, it is in grading and packing, for good packages mean good prices. He also urges Hoosiers to get all the education possible in all phases of apple questions, and, like the westerners, held schools of instruction on picking, grading and packing. Such a school as this will be one of the features of the coming Indiana show.

Indiana has many advantages as a producer of apples, Mr. VanDeman thinks, but before the growers of this state can win all the success that is within their reach, they must take up the best plans of growing and marketing that are followed in the leading apple regions of the country.

NEED REPUBLICANS FOR EXAMINERS

Those of Opposite Political Belief Have Opportunity to get on Democratic Pay Roll.

LAW PERMITS ONE HUNDRED

Republicans who want to work for the state under a democratic administration will have a chance to get on the pay roll by taking the examination for field examiners for the state board of accounts, October 11.

The examination will not be limited to Republicans but a shortage of examiners of that political faith makes them more certain of getting work. There are now sixty-six field examiners on the force but less than half of them are Republicans and as the law requires one Republican and one Democrat shall work together, all of the men can not be employed continually.

The law permits the employment of one hundred field examiners but Chief Dehority says it is not intended to increase the force to the legal limit. He desires to create an eligible list from which vacancies must be filled.

WASHES HANDS OF GARY CASE

Prosecutor Greenwald Declines to Push Scandal Hearing.

BUSINESS MEN TO TAKE PART

With the Prosecutor Reiterating His Determination Not to Prosecute Mayor Knotts and His Associates, the Assistant Prosecutor Will Do Given Help, It Is Said, Provided by Voluntary Contributions.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 18.—Prosecuting Attorney Greenwald declares he has "washed his hands" of the case, thus reiterating his determination not to prosecute Mayor Thomas F. Knotts and his associate officials, recently arrested on a charge of bribery.

Greenwald's action leaves W. B. Hodges, counsel for Thomas B. Dean, who worked up the evidence and swore to the complaints against the city officials, as the only prosecutor without compensation by Judge McMahon of the circuit court at Crown Point.

Certain business men of Gary, in view of this situation, are reported to be raising a fund for the purpose of engaging other assistant counsel to take charge of the prosecution. Meanwhile, attorneys for the defendants plan to press their demand for a change of venue from Lake county when the case comes up at Crown Point next Friday.

WANTS MONEY BACK

Not Only That, but He Demands Revocation of License.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 18.—Attorney Otto Geiss's suit to recover $700 from Smith Wiltshire, an Evansville hotel proprietor, which he alleges Wiltshire won from him at poker, has had a sequel in a petition for the revocation of Wiltshire's license, filed before the county commissioners by Geiss. The suit to recover the alleged poker losses is still pending in the courts here. This is the first petition for license revocation under the new Proctor law in this city. Geiss was a member of the Indiana house of representatives in the 1907 legislative session.

RETURNED TO WORK

Clinton Miners Gain Point Which Caused Walkout.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 18.—By an agreement reached between Secretary Phil Penna of the Bituminous Coal Operators' association and W. D. VanHorn, president of the United Mine Workers of the Eleventh district, the strike involving 1,100 men at the Clinton Coal company's mines in Clinton, Ind., has been ended. The operators agreed to withdraw the so-called iron-clad agreement, requiring men seeking employment to answer a number of personal questions, and Mr. VanHorn accepted the terms.

DAMAGES DEMANDED

Miners Hold Company Responsible for Deadly Black Damp.

Sullivan, Ind., Sept. 18.—Ten miners employed in the Caledonia mine of the Monon Coal company in the Sullivan field, each have filed suits for $10,000 damages against the company. The suits are the result of the miners being stricken by black damp after the mine boss had told them the mine was in fit working condition. After the incident, the prosecuting attorney of Sullivan made an investigation and action was taken against officials of the company.

Probably Slain From Ambush.

Indianapolis, Sept. 18.—Believed to be the victim of an enemy in ambush, the body of H. C. Weisenborn, salesman for a local wholesale grocery house, was found lying face downward in North Senate avenue. Two bullet wounds were found on the body, one in the back which probably caused Weisenborn's death, and one in the left forearm. That the victim was murdered is the belief of the police. Persons living near the scene of the shooting assert that they heard several shots fired shortly before the finding of the body.

Child Maimed by Train.

Fortville, Ind., Sept. 18.—Frances Sherman, the seven-year-old daughter of Grant Sherman, living three miles northwest of Fortville, was run down by a freight train at a crossing here and both her legs were cut off. It is said she cannot recover. The little girl had waited for one train to pass and stepped directly in front of the second one on another track before she saw it.

Brakeman Killed on Track.

Covington, Ind., Sept. 18.—R. K. Gentry, a brakeman on a Big Four freight train, was killed here by a passenger train. It is supposed he sat down on the track and went to sleep after he was detailed to flag duty.

Aged Farmer Drowned.

Sullivan, Ind., Sept. 18.—Benton Lemon, seventy years old, a well-known farmer, was drowned in the Wabash river at Hyatt's Ferry, southwest of here.

Picturesque Figure in National Politics Dead at Washington.

A NOTED FIGURE IN NATIONAL POLITICS

Former Senator Carter Dies Suddenly at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 18.—At his residence in this city early Sunday morning, Thomas H. Carter, twice a senator from Montana, and a prominent and picturesque figure in national politics, died suddenly. Ex-Senator Carter had been seriously ill for a week before his death from impaired heart action.

Thomas Henry Carter represented Montana in the senate for twelve years. He first sat in the senate in 1895 and stayed there until 1901. He came back in 1905. He first came into national politics in 1892, when he was made chairman of President Harrison's Republican national committee. Carter was of Irish ancestry. He was born in Scioto county, Ohio, in 1854. His people were farmers, and young Carter worked with his father in the fields. In 1875 he went to Burlington, Ia., and studied law. From there, in 1882, he went to Helena, Mont., with his law books and the politicians first recognized him when he was made a delegate to congress from Montana, which was then a territory. When Montana was made a state Carter represented it in congress, but was defeated when he ran for re-election.

DR. HURTY TELLS HOW GERMS TRAVEL IN CAFES

Under the heading, "Sights Not Quite Sanitary I Have Seen in First Class Cafes" Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health will publish a series of drastic arraignments of Indianapolis and Indiana cafes in the forthcoming bulletin of the state board. The list in part follows:

"I have seen a waiter wipe his sweaty forehead with the towel he carried on his arm for wiping dishes. I have seen knives and forks, spoons and tumblers, after having been used at the table, rinsed in greasy, yellowish dishwater and then wiped with a tea towel, which was an approach to rubber roofing color.

"I have seen restaurant kitchen help pass their hands through their hair and then handle sliced bread.

"I have seen two mice jump out of a bread box, and the slice therein sent to the table.

"I have seen a bowl of sugar spilled on the floor, then picked up with the hands and carried directly to the table.

"I have already probably seen too much and will cease with the observation that we eat heaps of microbes without receiving any harm, and then anon harm does result.

"The good of all this is to secure the co-operation of the people with the State board of health in some extra efforts it will presently put forth to remedy such evils as here are depicted."

The state health official declared that in many of the instances cited, impure food had been served on the tables of Indianapolis cafes and restaurants, and declared that the larger cafes here are as amenable to the charges as are others. The state board will begin a crusade against such practices within the next few months, said Dr. Hurty.

PIMPLES

And All Humiliating Skin Eruptions Are Banished by the New Sulphur Treatment.

Oh, the anguish of those ugly, slightly, humiliating pimples, blotches, and other skin troubles! Why tolerate them? Don't you know that the one sure indicator of these blemishes is SULFOSOL (sulphur in solution)? Sulphur has for ages been recognized by the medical profession as the one great specific for blood impurities, but the trouble was that sulphur couldn't be assimilated in the blood.

SULFOSOL is just soluble sulphur—made possible through the recent discovery of a secret of Nature by a great chemist.

SULFOSOL (soluble sulphur) is Nature's gift to that large portion of humanity afflicted with Pimples, Eczema, and all forms of blood taints and skin diseases. Get SULFOSOL of your nearest druggist or write to Sulfosol Co., 72 Trinity Place, New York, for free book on Blood and Skin Diseases and the successful use of SULFOSOL in their treatment.

TROOPS FIRE ON VIENNA RIOTERS

Social Revolution Breaks Out In Austria's Capital.

INCREASED COST OF LIVING

Incensed by the Additional Burdens Laid Upon Them by the High Prices of the Necessities of Life, the Working People of Gay Capital Indulged in a Gigantic Uprising on Sunday, and Many Were Slain.

Vienna, Sept. 18.—As the result of the Social Democrats' demonstration against the increased cost of living, the expected occurred here Sunday and there were serious riots. About 200,000 gathered in various parts of the city, but the biggest assemblage was in front of the Rathaus, where angry speeches were made. After the speeches it appeared that all of the mob had concealed stones in their pockets, and with these missiles they bombarded the windows of the Rathaus. The police tried to check the attack, but only succeeded in drawing the missiles on themselves. There were fierce clashes between the police and rioters until noon, when it was decided upon to call out some of the garrison, and a company was sent against the mob. Three separate charges were made before the mob was dispersed, and then it was not dispersed for long. Reinforcements came from other parts of the city and the rioters stoned everything in sight, yelling "Give us bread, not soldiers."

Mob Wrecked Cafes.

The situation rapidly grew worse. The mobs invaded cafes and wrecked furniture and fittings. The cavalry charged repeatedly, but with little effect, and the stormy scenes were not ended until the infantry was called out and ordered to fire on the mobs that by this time had begun to build barricades in the streets. The firing by infantry, in which many were killed and more wounded, ended the trouble in the city, but it was renewed in other districts, especially in quarters where live the working classes. At Ottakring, a western suburb, twenty-four were killed. The rioters wrecked schools, attacked the house of a priest that had been barricaded with overturned streetcars, and smashed the street lamps so that at nightfall they could not be lighted. The mobs rushed through the streets giving vent to their feelings in such cries as "Down with the government!" "Down with the landlords!" "Long live the republic!" Martial law has been declared in the city.

TAFT'S TRAVELS

The President Discussed the Subject of the Trusts at Detroit.

Detroit, Sept. 18.—When President Taft's special arrived here about 7 o'clock this morning a large crowd had gathered to give welcome to the chief executive. He will leave at 4:25 this afternoon and every moment of the day has been provided for. The subject of Mr. Taft's set speech was "The Trusts" and an enormous crowd gave him the closest attention. The president will speak briefly this evening at Pontiac, Saginaw and Bay City.

Sunday at Erie.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 18.—This city had never before enjoyed a president as guest over Sunday and it did its level best to make it an occasion. Mr. Taft, however, has insisted that every Sunday of his long journey be reserved for rest, and he limited his activity to attending the Unitarian church in the morning and motoring about the city in the afternoon. The church was as packed as at an Easter service.

Stolypin's Condition Worse.

Kiev, Sept. 18.—There has been an unfavorable change in the condition of the Russian prime minister, Stolypin, who was shot at the theater on Thursday night, symptoms of peritonitis having developed.

Chinese Rebels Score.

Shanghai, Sept. 18.—It is reported that the rebels have captured Chentu, that high officials have been slain and that the viceroy with his family barely managed to escape.

JEALOUS HUSBAND FIRES FATAL SHOT

Puts Bullet Into Wife's Body Then Kills Himself.

Sullivan, Ind., Sept. 18.—Ordie Jones, twenty-five years old, a section foreman on the Illinois Central railroad, sent a bullet crashing into his brain and died instantly after he had wounded his wife, probably fatally. Mrs. Jones is suffering from an abdominal wound and physicians say she cannot recover. The shooting occurred in front of the Jones home here about 9 o'clock, and the motive that prompted it is not known. It is said, however, that Jones had accused his wife of infidelity. Mrs. Jones had been buggy riding with her sister and a brother of Jones. When they approached the Jones home, it is said, Jones met them and forced Mrs. Jones to get out of the buggy. He then led her in front of their home, where he drew an automatic revolver and opened fire.

LIBERALS SEEM TO BE IN SADDLE

Victory for Laurier and Reciprocity Predicted.

THE CANADIAN ELECTIONS

At the Close of Determined Campaign the Most Careful Forecast of the Probable Results Gives a Reciprocity Majority in the Dominion Parliament of 41, Precisely Strength of Liberals in Last Parliament.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 18.—The reciprocity campaign is ended with the exception of the big Laurier meetings here today and in Montreal tomorrow. Laurier's majority in the last parliament was reduced from 45 to 43 at two by-elections at which Nationalists were returned, and so far as reciprocity is concerned was further reduced by the defections of three members, who announced their opposition to reciprocity.

The provinces in the last parliament were divided as follows:

Conservative.	Liberal.
British Columbia....	5 2
Alberta.....	3 4
Saskatchewan.....	1 9
Manitoba.....	8 2
Ontario.....	51 35
Quebec.....	13 52
New Brunswick.....	2 11
Nova Scotia.....	6 12
Prince Edward Is....	1 3
Yukon.....	— 1
	90 131

It is conceded generally that reciprocity will make gains in the west. It looks as if the Liberals might gain one in British Columbia, probably two in Alberta and at least three and likely four in Manitoba. Very likely they will get the other seat in Saskatchewan, but the big province of Ontario, with its eighty-six seats, is doubtful. Careful consideration of the claims of both sides lead to the conclusion that reciprocity will win in thirty-six districts, a Liberal gain. Many Liberals make greater claims, but they do not seem to be justified. The combined Conservatives and Nationalists in Quebec do not appear likely to win in more than eighteen of the sixty-five constituencies. This gives them a gain of five seats. In New Brunswick there is a chance of the government winning one of the two seats held by the Conservatives. No change is likely in Prince Edward Island.

It looks like victory for Laurier and reciprocity with 131 seats for the Liberals to ninety for the Conservatives and Nationalists, a reciprocity majority of 41.

NINE KILLED

New York State Fair Marred by a Shocking Automobile Accident.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Eleven persons are dead and at least fourteen hurt, several probably fatally, as a result of an accident in the fifty-mile automobile race at the state fair.

A racing car, driven by Lee Oldfield, crashed through the fence on the turn after leaving the stretch in front of the grandstand and plowed for some distance into the crowd, causing the casualties.

Oldfield was not seriously hurt. The blowing up of a tire on Oldfield's machine was responsible for the accident. Six of the nine people were killed outright and five others were so badly injured that they died at the hospital.

Evelyn Arthur See Not Satisfied With Court's Ruling.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Evelyn Arthur See, leader of the "Absolute Life" cult, who was convicted on charges of abducting Miss Mildred Bridges, was denied a new trial by Judge Lockwood Honore in the criminal court. See's attorney announced that he would file a bill of exceptions, which will be ruled upon by the supreme court. Pending further hearing in the case, See will remain at liberty on a bond of $5,000.

Police Threw Out Dragnet.

Pittsburg, Sept. 18.—Scores of suspects have been taken in the police dragnet since the murder of Paymaster David Steen of the Pittsburg Coal company at Woodville Saturday, but so far nothing has been fastened on any of the prisoners. At first it was thought that the satchel containing $5,000 had been taken by the robbers. The money was found under young Steen's body.

Use Their New Found Liberty.

Saltito, Mexico, Sept. 18.—Venustiano Carranza, who was a member of the cabinet of Francisco I. Madero's provisional government during the recent revolution, was elected governor of the state of Coahuila. It was the first time in the history of the state that the peon class was given the privilege of voting and thousands of them took advantage of their new liberty.

Frauds as a result of payment of revolutionary damages in Mexico are being investigated.

Morrow testified, as it was said by his attorneys would be brought out, that he saw Mr. Caldwell with his wife in University park and that she carried a suit box and another small box containing a lunch. He said that his wife told him she was going out for a car ride. He said that he had called on Caldwell at his home west of the city once alone and a second time with his attorney. The witness declared that he accused the defendant of breaking up his home and said that he wanted recourse. He asserted that Caldwell said he would have to get that through court. The plaintiff said that Mr. Caldwell admitted to him that he had been writing to and had met Mrs. Morrow.

It was brought out in cross examination of the plaintiff by attorneys for Mr. Caldwell that Morrow had worked in many places in Indianapolis and had lived in many different houses, the defense attempting to show that Morrow is an irresponsible citizen, as it was asserted would be done. Morrow admitted that he and his wife had had trouble most of the time since 1904 or 1905, and that his wife often stayed out late at nights and away from home some times. The plaintiff on the stand stated also in cross examination that he and his wife had been separated five different times before she procured a divorce from him in Marion county last February. He testified that his wife had been intimate with three men in Indianapolis which he learned by following and watching her closely. He testified also that his wife had worked as a domestic in Indianapolis in Indianapolis homes and in Indianapolis restaurants before and after they were separated the last time.

Attorneys for the plaintiff and the defense outlined their sides of the case in brief opening statements before the jury. Little time was consumed in obtaining a jury. It is the intention of the defense to show that there were no improper relations between the defendant and Emma Morrow and that at the time he corresponded with her and met her he did not know that she was living with her husband. On the other hand the plaintiff will attempt to prove by testimony of witnesses that Mr. Caldwell admitted on different occasions that he had met and corresponded with the plaintiff's wife and that Mr. Morrow caught Mr. Caldwell and Emma Morrow when they were holding little "te-te-te" in University park in Indianapolis.

Walter L. Carey of Indianapolis, with Sparks & Gary of this city, is representing Morrow, made the opening statement for the plaintiff. He said that it would be shown that Mr. Caldwell began paying attention to Mrs. Morrow during the summer of 1910. It is the intent of the plaintiff to prove that the defendant wrote letters to Mrs. Morrow and met her in Indianapolis and this city until the woman's husband became suspicious. The plaintiff will bring out in the evidence that Mrs. Morrow once dressed carefully and left for Indianapolis while she and her husband lived several miles from the center of the city. It will be shown by the plaintiff, according to his attorney, that Morrow followed his wife down town, through several buildings—while she was trying to elude him—and to University park at the corner of New York and Pennsylvania streets in Indianapolis, where she met the defendant. It is the intention to show that Mr. Morrow separated them, raised a row and informed Mr. Caldwell that she was his wife.

The attorney declared that it would be proved that Mr. Morrow came here to see the defendant who told him he (Caldwell) was led to believe, that Mrs. Morrow was separated from her husband and that Caldwell admitted writing letters to her and meeting her in Indianapolis. It will be shown, according to the attorney, that he and his client saw Mr. Caldwell at his home west of the city later after Mrs. Morrow had filed suit for divorce from her husband and that Mr. Caldwell told them the same story as he did the plaintiff earlier in the month.

John A. Tittsworth, of the law firm of Watson, Tittsworth & Green, which is representing Mr. Caldwell, said that it would be shown that the defendant is a good, successful and thrifty Rush county farmer, while on the other hand the plaintiff is an irresponsible citizen. It will be proved by the defense, according to the statement, that Mr. Morrow has lived in various places in Indianapolis, has worked in various places in the city and has quarreled with his wife often during their life together. The defense will attempt to show that the plaintiff was jealous of his wife and struck her many times. It will be shown, Mr. Tittsworth said, that Morrow hit his wife once and broke her jaw, hit her another time and knocked her on the floor, and that she once got a divorce from him on such grounds.

The defense will attempt to prove that Mr. Caldwell never did anything improper in relation to Mrs. Morrow. Mr. Caldwell's attorneys will show by testimony that when Mrs. Morrow was driven from her home by her husband that she worked as a domestic in Indianapolis for a time, later worked at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Walker west of the city and after that was employed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Carr in this city. After she left this city the defense will attempt to prove that she returned to Indianapolis and worked at Taggart's lunch room in Massachusetts Avenue to Indianapolis. Mr. Tittsworth asserted that it would be shown by evidence that Mr. Caldwell met Mrs. Morrow at University park in Indianapolis to arrange for her to come to the Caldwell home where the defendant and his brothers resides, to act as housekeeper, he having heard from his neighbor, that she was a good servant. The defense will show it was asserted, that Mr. Morrow never took a buggy ride or never called on Mrs. Morrow while she was employed in this
